

June 2016

Ms Wahu Kagwi

The University of Nairobi on Wednesday, June 29, 2016 appointed Ms Wahu Kagwi as the goodwill ambassador of the maker project that was being launched on the same day at the College of Agriculture and Veterinary Studies.

Ms Wahu Kagwi who is an alumna of the University of Nairobi will support innovations in developing solutions to mother and newborn mortality at the University of Nairobi, among the public and within the industry.

She will especially encourage women innovators to come forward and showcase their innovations.

Ms Kagwi said that as a University and as a country we should always look for solutions within because we have the capacity.