VICE-CHANCELLOR’S REMARKS DURING THE REFRESHER TRAINING FOR TENDER COMMITTEE MEMBERS, COLLEGE PROCUREMENT COMMITTEES AND DISPOSAL COMMITTEES AT THE CCU ON NOVEMBER 18, 2014 AT 10.00 AM
- Facilitators from Treasury and Public Procurement Oversight
- Tender Committee Members
- College Procurement Committees
- Disposal Committees
- Ladies and gentlemen
I am happy to join you during this refresher training for various procurement Committee members of the University. The purpose of this refresher training is to refresh you on the recent changes in the procurement law. As you are aware, the last training was done over five years ago and several changes have taken place, hence the need to appraise you on these developments.

Ladies and gentlemen, among the developments include the E-procurement which was announced recently by H.E. the President and which will be implemented by the end of the year. The Treasury representative, who is with us, will shed more light on this.

The Public Procurement Oversight Authority representative, who is also amongst us, will take us through the procurement law and how E-procurement is going to be implemented and how it will affect our operations.
Ladies and gentlemen, UoN has invested heavily on training as part of the institutional capacity building to manage the dynamic nature of conducting business in the public sector and improve on service delivery. This is so because management believes in appraising members of staff on the latest developments in public governance. It is my belief that this training wills the University by anchoring new ways of conducting procurement and improve efficiency.

Thank you and have a successful training.
